

Oceans of Opportunity Preserving today for tomorrow

The ocean, the center of life a blueish majesty

A pinnacle of unlimited fantasy

Home to many creatures

Harbouring many undiscovered features

A silvery kingdom full of wonders

A kingdom waiting to be fully discovered

The ocean as beautiful as crystal

With its significant shine

It's underwater depths so mythical

And it's creature sublime

Beneath the surface a world of mysteries bloom

Coral,like garden in underwater looms

Wave whispers takes journeys afar

As ships sails beneath the evening star

The great ocean has fallen into the wicked hand of humanity

It's a shame to dwell in this tedious tragedy

As we continue in this path of naivety unaware of the implications

We are building a foundation of troubles for future generation

From the center of life to center of waste

As God frowns an us dwelling in disgrace

Under the sky Endless blue

There is an ocean deep and true

A concept of wonders boundless and free

There is a world with a million opportunities

A place that tells stories of long ago

A place with blue waters and infinite tides flow

Each ripple and tide a chance brought new

An interesting journey waiting just for you

The ocean has more opportunities beyond the eye can see

A source of opportunities for you and me

From diving ,to fishery to exploring the deep blue

Is there any true limit to what you could do

We mask the ocean with our reckless mistakes

We have turned it to a filter of waste

We need to raise it with hands of care

Because the effects might be too much to bare
