

THE IIMPORTANCE OF ENVIRONMENTAL SUSTAINABILITY

Nature's beauty calls, a gentle breeze,
That whispers secrets, of a world to seize,
A world where waste and pollution cease,
And harmony with earth, our hearts release.

The earth cries out in pain and despair,
As waste and pollution choke its air,
The once-blue skies now gray and dull,
A reflection of our thoughtless pull.

Let's reuse and recycle, reduce our stride,
And let the earth's natural beauty be our guide,
No more plastic flowers, that harm and deceive,
Let's nurture the land, and the sea, we must retrieve.

The future's uncertain, a canvas bare,
Will we paint a picture, of beauty rare?
Or will we leave, a legacy of pain?
The choice is ours, to make a change, to sustain.

The trees, they stand like sentinels of old,
Their branches bare, their leaves long cold,
But still we can act, we can make a change,
Plant trees, reduce, and rearrange.

Our ways of living, our habits, our creed,
To save the earth, and all its need,
For the future's sake, let's rearrange,
And let the earth's beauty forever range.