Restoration For Posterity: A Knock On The Door OF Human Conscience

A tribute to one scorned for so long
A call to preserve she who did no wrong
North and South, East and West
Do for humanity and nature what is best

Let's quit killing in the name of food endangered species
That what's left of her we might preserve
Spread the green gospel to cities far and wide
Boycotting car engines emitting excess carbon monoxide
Preach to the agile and aged, reduce, reuse and recycle
Embracing the foot-wagon, electric vehicles and two wheeled cycles

Whilst GMO and its corrosive friends deaden our soil
Mother nature remains disheartened and continues to boil
Hence, we must come together, embracing organic farming
Stemming soil pollution, an anomaly becoming so alarming

Forsake the fumes by seeking alternative sources of energy
Let's watch the Sun, Water and Wind work in synergy

Ice caps melt, temperature and sea levels rise
Now leaving encroaching coastal cities to pay the price
Let's all plant green trees in our streets and houses
Fostering photosynthesis, thereby curbing excess greenhouse gases

Hell hath no fury as a woman scorned
History hath no reproach as a race forewarned

Her chagrin we see, our faults we now realize
A cause my pen will forever rhapsodize.
