

POEM TOPIC: "Generation Restoration": Shaping Our Future!

We are the reflections of seeds that were once sown, originating from the earth, but we have our own aspirations. In broken territories and overcast heavens, we ascend with the aim, as evident as the sun.

The history may hint at what's gone , of advancement paid for by the environment. But we, the expression of an agitated young generation, create from the leaks a more eco-friendly reality.

With hands that fix and hearts that show concern, we sow fresh hope in polluted air.
Rejuvenating streams, earth and spirit. A complete and courageous group.

We mold the future one leaf at a time, changing hopelessness into faith, where there was nothing, now flowers bloom. Evidence of the journey we're proud to display.

No one should claim the vision has vanished, as we are present and continue our efforts.
Generation Restore, we assert our position and mold the world with affection and elegance.
