

SEEK TRUST

PERSONAL DETAILS

Name: Okezie Stephen Onyedikachi

Age: 25

School: University of Nigeria, Nsukka

Email: okeziestephen84@gmail.com

Telephone Number: 08102609382

Word Count: 187 words (Excluding preliminary pages and title)

Title: Evergreen

Seeking to make life easy,
we built heavy machines and cities,
without considering the consequences.

We were bewitched;
we fell trees and increased greenhouse gases,
through needless burning.

So Climate grieved,
showing warning signs,
yet we paid no heed.
We thought ourselves smart.

Now we are caught in a twist of fate,
climate has chosen to retaliate,
yet we act like prey.

We lament:
the sun is hotter,
droughts last longer,
wildlife is scarcer,
and lives and property are being lost—to floods.

For our future to be bright,
we must placate Climate,
by getting it right.

Oh! Our youths,
Nature is moved by their mood,
so let them lead the move.

Arise, O army of young ambassadors,
flag bearers of the Green Vision.
Herald the gospel of a new generation,
where fossil burning become myth.

Advocate!
“Stop burning. Stop felling. Plant more.”
Proclaim!
“Cleaner energy.”
Oh! What a good way to go.

Earth is our lair, so let us sustain her.
Let us reconcile with Climate and usher in a new era.
Let us shape an evergreen future and economy,
transforming planet Earth for generations to come.